SUPPLEMENT TO REPORT NO. 25X1X

1. A newly-enacted law requires soldiers released from the army to serve in the active reserves two months every year in order to increase their efficiency in the use of arms.
2. Soldiers are not allowed to receive visits from their relatives or acquaintances. In cases of emergency, the parents of the soldier may inquire, by mail or telegram only, about the health of their son from the officer on duty in the barracks.
